

Men in Black of the NWO

by David Michael, info@glentivar.org

In the early morning of the 26th of November 2015, I dreamed was in an orphanage located somewhere in America on a large piece of land like a farm. It seemed I was also an orphan in this dream and it was common for us as kids to tease the other kids with mean nick names. There was a young woman perhaps the age of 14 that was in this orphanage who had a large stuffed monkey doll that spoke with a pull cord. The monkey seemed to at times speak its own mind and not that of a recorded message when his talk cord was pulled. We found this very amusing.

There was a big gathering like a party at the orphan ranch were we were living. Many people where there. We as orphans were away from the adults and mostly outside playing games.

As we were playing, the cloth belly of the monkey opened and a small black book fell out. It had names... lots of names. As soon as this occurred, a man in black came and took the book and ran away with it. We felt as if we had been betrayed and decided to pursue this man into the city. We followed him to a very high city skyscraper and to the penthouse of this building. We did all we could to regain the book but never had the opportunity to snatch it back. When we did confronted any of them openly we killed. Many of us orphans died in this pursuit as more men in black joined with the one man and provided protection to him. We finally did see him alone in the elevator of this building and the girl who had the doll monkey was able to snatch the book from his hands and run from the elevator just as the door opened. I was outside the elevator and fell down across the path of this man where he tripped, hit his head on a table and died.

The girl who had the book ran and loaded into an awaiting 70's vintage VW van. This is likely the worst get-away car you could choose. Why choose a slow, noisy, high profile VW bus for getting away knowing you would be pursued. This puzzled me. The rest of us returned to the orphan farm and awaited her arrival. I then saw the monkey doll at the farm through a window now in the hands of the men in black. It was being brutally interrogated by them to answer questions. It was being strangled while other men in black were demanding the monkey tell them where the girl and the book is. The Monkey said to himself, "I do not know...I am not strong enough!" and died not revealing anything. Much time passed and she still did not come.

Finally, she came with another driving the VW bus and in tears said she had lost the book again. The Men in Black caught them at a stop light and re-stole the book. We all looked at each other and I suddenly knew what the names were in the book. They were the names of the future Resistance of YHWH who would fight the men in Black of the NWO. Many named in this book were still children and some now adults. With them having their names, they would now be systematically searched out and murdered before they could become a threat to the rise of the NWO. I suddenly welled up with tears and cried uncontrollably in seeing so much death of the innocent in the future. Millions would die from the information in this little black book that was now in the hands of the Antichrist NWO.

As I awoke, I realized the names in the book are real names of real people living today. Some have already been murdered. Others are to be murdered soon. Only the protection of YHWH in providing invisibility can save them. We are to pray for their protection that they might survive to become the force that brings down or really shorten the reign of the NWO Antichrist regime.

The monkey was an angelic oracle in the care of an orphan who was often teased and rejected by her peers. She did all she could to retrieve the book but could not. The fact the good guys in this dream were orphans means they as the Resistance will be rejected by society and are considered outcasts. These are to become the prophets who are being raised up in these last days to confront the Antichrist regime as it rises into power and enslaves humanity.

The impact of this dream reveals real and specific names of the chosen prophetic Resistance is ALREADY known to the NWO and they are even now systematically neutralizing (murdering) these threats. There safety is in having no name by which they can be traced. No name means being a complete orphan to society. Orphaned means no credit cards, credit record, ownership, drivers license or any other form of ID that can be traced. They are to be forgotten to society and raised as lost children with no records. Only our continued prayers can preserve them from the murderous agenda of the Antichrist who is even now in power in the world. I need to continue to pray for their protection and will do so with renewed commitment.
