In the early morning of the 27th of July 2017 at 4:10 am, I was startled by a vivid dream-vision which awakened me. I was standing before thousands of bikers and with a loud voice made this challenge to them.

“The enemy of my enemy is my friend. Soon America will be invaded by foreign armies. It is now we must unite as one army, putting aside our club rivalries, and build villages and camps to prepare for this. These bases must be off-grid and sustainable. We are America's hope by the Grace of God.”
